SPECIAL SALES

Readership of our journals is assured by the high quality of our editorial content. We provide a number of special sales opportunities for these journals which include:

Reprints
Article reprints are useful promotional tools not only at industry-specific exhibitions, conferences, and meetings, but also for use by corporate sales representatives.

Our reprint service consists of:
- Journal-style cover
- Quality production
- Shipping worldwide
- Simple ordering system
- Minimum quantities of 500
- In compliance with copyright requirements
- Company information can be added

E-prints
An article with a journal style cover that is provided electronically as a pdf with a preset number of accesses from 100 copies or more.

Supplements
Supplements are generally viewed as being a collation of high-quality peer-reviewed articles that focus on novel developments and summarize relevant research findings. They provide an opportunity to gather and disseminate the results of these findings and of influential surveys to a targeted journal readership.
